People expect good service when they deal with any business, but it's hard to dispute that Greg

Christofakis and his staff at Greg's Auto Body on New Haven Avenue went above and beyond the call of duty when they helped a lady in distress recently.

Miladys Felix, a Norwalk resident, was most definitely a lady in distress two weekends ago when she was driving back from Yale-New Haven Hospital. She'd been driving to the hospital every day to be with her son, Nikolas, who was born Dec. 12, nearly three months premature.

It's a long drive for the Norwalk resident, who recently returned to work in Purchase, N.Y., adding to a long daily commute.

When she left the hospital two Saturday nights ago in her Acura TSX, she ran into some trouble.

"It was late, and you know how the roads were. I hit a really big pothole near the hospital," she said. "I kept driving, I got on I-95, and as I was driving, the right front tire completely exploded."

She said it was surreal, and she's actually impressed that she was able to get the car to the shoulder.

State Police came to her assistance, and called Greg's Auto Body to come and tow the car.
